GUY LANGMAN:
CRIME SCENE PROCRASTINATOR
By Josh Berk

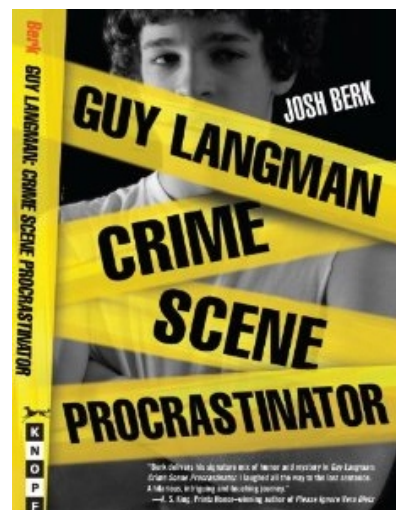

ADVANCE PRAISE:

Kirkus Reviews, January 2012:

"Hilarious wit and serious gloom blend seamlessly as Guy wades through the year after his dad's death...Guy's running inner monologue is sharply observational, sardonic, funny and sad...Best friend Anoop and other peers are freshly unusual, not recycled character types."

A.S. King, Printz Honor-winning author of Please Ignore Vera Dietz:

"Berk delivers his signature mix of humor and mystery in Guy Langman: Crime Scene Procrastinator. I laughed all the way to the last sentence. A hilarious, intriguing and touching journey."
